

Infusion Therapy

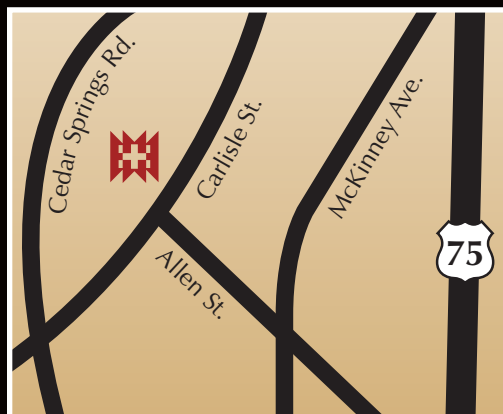

Infusion Therapy is a critical tool for the treatment of serious infections. At Uptown Infusion Center, we know that patients want to be able to manage their treatment at home, and avoid hospitalization. We have the tools that allow patients to maintain as much of a regular schedule as possible. Modern elastomeric infusion devices do not require the patient to be tied to an IV pole; the patient can be fully mobile during infusion of the product.

Our physicians monitor the patient's clinical and lab parameters every step of the way. Experienced infusion nurses take care of the IV lines, and teach the patient and family how to perform the treatments at home.

We accept all major insurance
